ABOUT POSSIBLE SPOILERS FROM THE MOVIE

(since at the time of publishing this,
Blue Ray DVDs were still more than a month away)

While this manga chapter covers events 10 years BEFORE the events of the movie, it also features Eltrians and their thinking 10 years ago which might color your view of some characters in a way movie didn't intend before it's reveals.

But this really only applies to especially spoiler averse people. No actual events from the movie are shown here, and if you allready are aware of the general gist of the reveals, go right ahead and enjoy a lok at Eltria 10 years ago.

4TH DIMENSION

Her favorite things are flowers and picture books.

She's a bit clumsy, so her naturally unruly hair is a source of annoyance.

That's me, Kyrie Florian, at age 6.

At her home she is the odd one out, the mediocre daughter.

Everyone knows her mother, as a beautiful and sociable woman, and...

Her sister, three years older than her, strongly takes after their mother and can do anything with ease.

While her father looks a bit worn, he is an excellent scientist that many look up to and rely on.

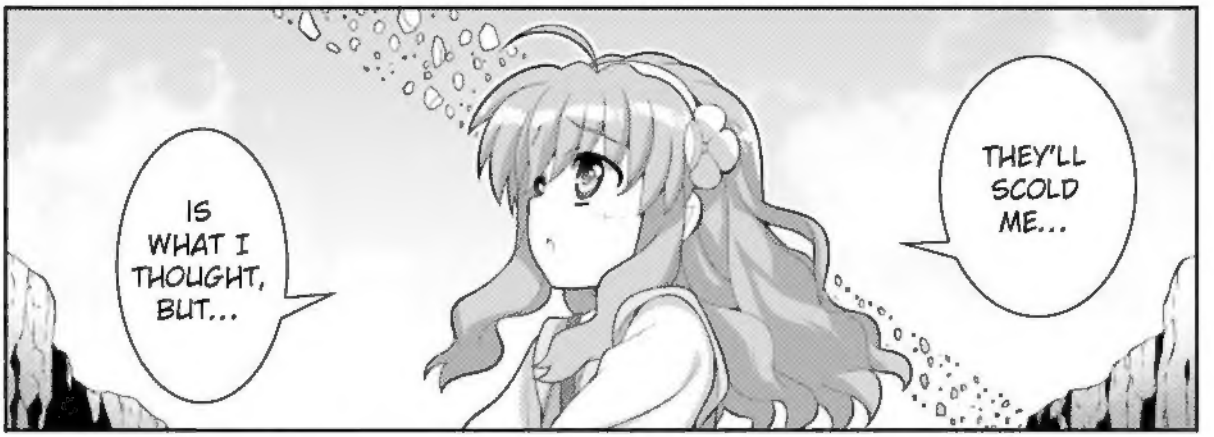
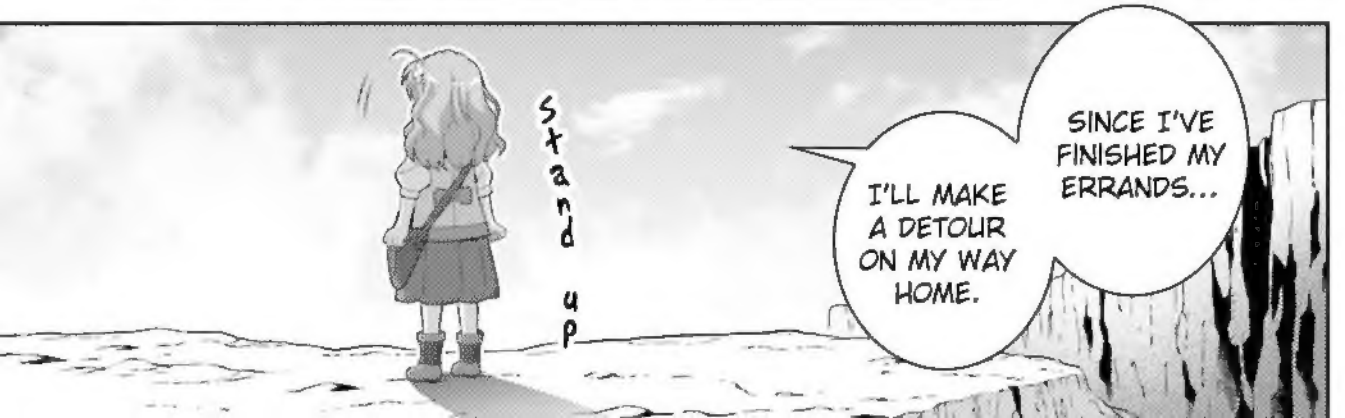
SIIIIGH ...
WHAT SHOULD I DO...?
It all started that time when I was bathing with my big sis.
Her straight, beautiful and smooth red hair...
was dazzling and made me jealous.

"I wanted to take after mother" like my sister...
is what I unfortunately blurted out.
Mine was unruly like Papa's.



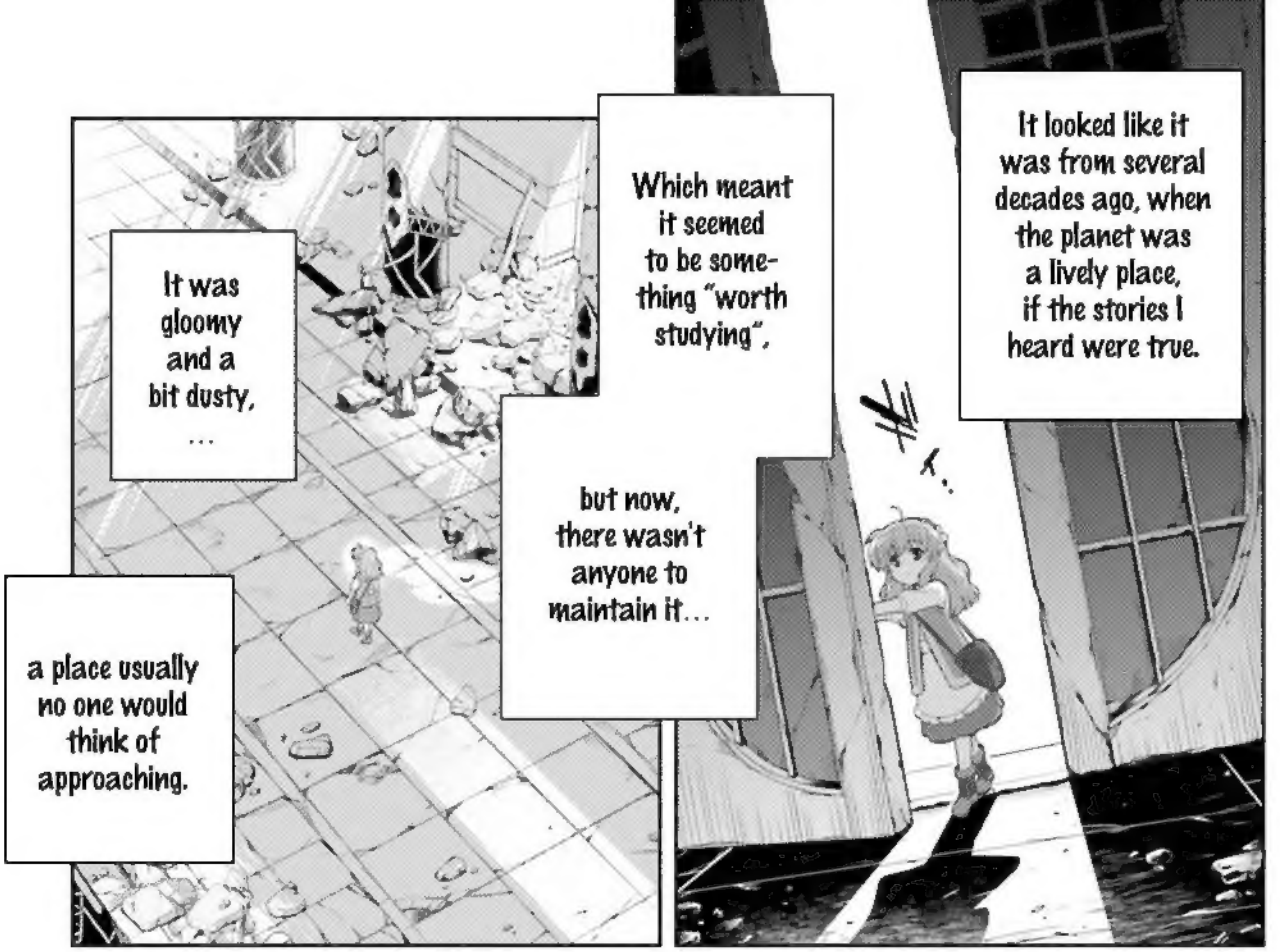
IS WHAT I THOUGHT, BUT...
THEY'LL SCOLD ME...

Papa on the other hand just looked apologetic while patting me on the head.
Instead, those two talked endlessly about my hair's unique appeal, and ways to arrange it.



Stand up
I'LL MAKE A DETOUR ON MY WAY HOME.
SINCE I'VE FINISHED MY ERRANDS...

Although I knew it was my fault for not apologizing properly,
it was still kinda difficult to spend time at home.
Those days this church was my refuge.



It looked like it was from several decades ago, when the planet was a lively place, if the stories I heard were true.
Which meant it seemed to be something "worth studying",
but now, there wasn't anyone to maintain it...
It was gloomy and a bit dusty, ...
a place usually no one would think of approaching.

However ...
The stained glass windows glistening in silence and...
somber pillar decorations were wondrous.

And also this was where I could find a lovely little garden.

I felt its atmosphere somewhat suited me.
And I liked it a bit more than other places.
It was a playground all of my own.

The following are the opinions of me 4th Dimension and might not represent oppinions of other people on the project. Main thing I'd like to note, that as someone who translated Gears of Destiny, this Kyrie doesn't really resemble the Kyrie from the game. Like, one might call Kyrie many things, ass, troll, smug etc. but NOBODY would call her SHY. No just no.

Which allows me to segue into shilling easily: If you are interested to see more of the Florians and the original that spawned many of the ideas for the Reflection, search for "Gears of Destiny subtitles" or "Gears of Destiny translation" on YouTube to find a translated Let's Play of it, which I'm doing on my chanell. Or type in this address: https://www.youtube.com/channel/ UCvSc8HDlxu0ejd0QYTt5ldg . The game itself is mostly cutscenes, and IMHO is the best bit of franchise we had since StrikerS.

Finally I'd like to address couple of translation issues that really could not fit in the margins of the pages, but are kinda important.

Translation notes:

Page 6, The not apologising bit might be a bit unclear. She is trying to say that she is blaming herself for not being able to apologise, for her familly not taking the situation seriously etc.

Page 10, The SFX here has many meanings and could also mean reaching for something.

Page 16, This is really untranslatable, but she is trying to be cutsey AND trying to sell Kyrie on idea of bringing her machines by implying the magic trick is a rare offer. Sorta doing the telemarketer thing, "Bring me machines now and recieve the special bonus of one magic trick.

Page 20, Naturally strong, since this has come up in some of our discussions, she is saying she is strong from birth, innately strong.

Page 23: When translation says she is "bound" to the Relic Board, she actually said that the Relic Board is her "yorishiro", which is a Shinto term for an object that attracts spirits or is inhabited by them. I used bound rather than use a term that is likely unfamiliar to the English speaking audience, since apparently the result is the same.

Page 24: Reading = Reaction. This is one of my pet peeves with translations so far. IMO Reading and such is more appropriate since the word for reaction is used for response to a phenomenon, like an airplane "reacts" to radar radio waves and "sends back" return waves. Therefore I think this is another case of using military terminology and in that case reading and such is more appropriate.
